FIREMEN SAVE BIG DAIRY BARN; BLAZE IN MOW

The efforts of neighbors and the Gettysburg fire department this morning saved a large dairy barn on the farm of Walter Hay, near McKnightstown station, when hay in a large mow over the cattle stanchions caught fire from spontaneous combustion.

Mr. and Mrs. Hay were in the barn milking when Mr. Hay smelled smoke shortly after 6 o'clock this morning. They found a hole where the fire was burning through the floor of the mow over where they were milking.

Mrs. Hay summoned firemen and turned out the cattle, while Mr. Hay hooked up a hose and kept water on the smoldering fire until the arrival of the firemen.

Former Keefer farm

A pumper drew water from a small creek in a nearby meadow, and neighbors and farm hands used forks and straw knives to get at the fire. A hole was made in the side of the barn, and the burning hay was wet down and thrown out.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the fire was pronounced out. There was an estimated 15 tons of hay in the mow. Fire was confined to a ten-foot space, however.

The farm is known as the old A. C. Keefer farm and was known as the Hershey farm prior to the Keefer ownership. It was purchased by Mr. Hay about five years ago, and extensive improvements made. The barn, about 50x100 feet, was valued at more than $5,000. Loss of the hay was estimated at approximately $200.

Burkhardt, junior vice commander of Pennsylvania veterans, was the installing officer and talked briefly of the organization's activities.

"The most important thing to do now is to register to vote and to remind other veterans to register before July 23 in any party they choose and vote in the November 8 election for the Pennsylvania veterans' bonus. There is a great possibility that this bonus may not pass if the GI's do not vote in greater numbers than ever before."

He urged the local unit to seek new members with a goal of 50 for the end of 1950. "I feel sure your bid for the state convention will bring that gathering to Gettysburg. This is an historic shrine and cities so situated are top convention cities for the Purple Heart which has for one of its objectives the preservation of and interest in the historic shrines."

Letter To The Burgess

July 15, 1949

Burgess C. A. Heiges,
Baltimore Street,
Gettysburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Heiges:

As a result of the recent arrests of carnival personnel on gambling charges, it seems an impression has developed that I should make some positive recommendations to you and the Council, and a further impression that I desire to interfere in your functions and those of the Council. Both of these impressions are erroneous and untrue.

As I understand it, the principal duties of a District Attorney are to prosecute cases before the criminal courts and to advise complaining parties in respect to criminal matters. The law gives me no general power or duty in respect to municipal matters and I certainly did not and do not intend to assume such power or duty.

The recent arrest resulted from a number of sincere gambling complaints and action was immediately taken and the parties arrested. The fact that I have made no recommendations to you or the Council reveals that I do not intend to interfere in your functions.

Please be assured that if you desire any information from my office on any matters of interest to the Borough, the same is available to you and the Council at any time.

I am sending a copy of this letter to Wilbur J. Stallsmith, Chairman of the Council Safety Committee.

Yours truly,
DANIEL E. TEETER,
District Attorney

CZECH TENNIS STARS DEFY ORDER; HOPE TO REACH AMERICA

Gstaad, Switzerland, July 15 (P)—Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik, Czechoslovakia's top tennis stars, rejected today a Czech government order to return to Prague. They announced they were going into exile and hoped to reach the United States.

The two players had withdrawn from Swiss international tennis tournament yesterday after the Czech government withdrew permission to play here because two Germans and a Spaniard were competing.

This morning they announced they would play out the remainder of the tournament.

To Finish Tournament

In a statement issued on behalf of the two Czech players and in their presence by Ernest Scherz, head of the tournament organizing committee, the players said:

"We wish to state that we are sportsmen completely devoted to tennis and in no way connected with politics. We therefore have decided to respect Swiss hospitality and shall play to the end of the Swiss championship tournament at Gstaad. Nobody can prevent us from following our sporting ambitions, all less so because we have decided to go to the United States."

Drobny and Cernik, who have consistently received permission of the Czech government to play in foreign tournaments presumably because of the favorable publicity their play had created, made it clear their decision had long been in their minds.

Not Communists

At a press conference Drobny said he had been considering the action for a year. His 80-year-old father lives in Czechoslovakia. Cernik said his wife and three-year-old son "were still in Prague yesterday."

Drobny, said that 6 a.m. a Mrs. Zelenka, press and cultural attaché at the Czech legation in Bern, telephoned him and said he and Cernik would have to return to Prague immediately because of violent press attacks against Czechoslovakia in the Swiss press.

"We are not and never have been Communists or members of the Communist party," Drobny said. "People thought so because we were allowed to leave Czechoslovakia, but the fact is that they only let us out because of good publicity." He said his father was a member of the Communist party.

Has U. S. Friends

Drobny has reached semi-finals of tourney here and Cernik is in quarter-finals.

The two said the president of the U. S. tennis federation was acquainted with their case and was attempting to get them to the United States.

Drobny said he had "many good Czech friends in the United States who also will help me." He said he did not intend to turn professional immediately, certainly not before next year's Wimbledon tourney in London.

He will file application for permission to remain in Switzerland for 30 days.

BIG INCH BLOWS UP; ONE KILLED

West Chester, Pa., July 15 (P)—An explosion on the big inch pipe line today killed one youth and injured two others.

Dead was Lewis (Pete) Kellar, 21-year-old triple-threat athlete from West Chester who planned to enter Duke university this fall.

The injured youths who were taken to Chester county hospital here, are Donald Ciccarone, 17, West Chester, and Ezekiel Taylor, 22, Allentown, Kas. Ciccarone is in serious condition. Taylor suffered burns about the eyes.

The Texas Eastland Transmission corporation, which operates the natural gas-carrying pipe line, shooed reporters off the scene of the blast at nearby Eagle, Pa., and declined to make public the cause of the blast.

"Flash Blast"

Newsmen were told, before they were ordered from the scene, that the victims were working in a small building cleaning equipment when the blast occurred this morning.

There was a concentration of gas which caused what is known as a "flash blast." There was no fire and no damage to equipment.

Kellar was a West Chester high school star in football, basketball and baseball. He attended Perkiomen prep, Pottsville, Pa., and recently was awarded a scholarship to Duke university, Durham, N. C.

There was no immediate report of the cause of his death.

STICK TO PLAN TO BUY CROPS FOR EUROPEANS

Washington, July 15 (P)—Sponsors retreated 10 per cent today but otherwise stuck by their plan to force the buying of nearly $2,000,000 worth of surplus farm crops for the foreign aid program.

Senator Maybank (D-SC) told a reporter an amendment which put the freeze provision in the foreign aid money bill probably will be softened. He figured the softening would take into account the overall 10 per cent fund cut made by the appropriations committee.

Thus the partial retreat would still have the effect of requiring the Economic Cooperation administration and the army to buy about $1,800,000 in farm surpluses this year, tying down the funds tightly.

Want Fair Deal

Maybank indicated that sponsors aren't giving up the idea of requiring specified purchases, despite strong opposition by administration leaders, ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman and three farm organizations. As it was approved by the committee, the amendment would make the ECA and army buy all of the cotton, tobacco, wheat and other crops that they had estimated would be needed when President Truman's budget was made up last year.

"All we want is a fair deal for farm commodities as against industry," Maybank said. "We just want to be sure that all of the cuts in funds aren't taken out of farm purchases."

Senator Taft of Ohio (chairman of the GOP policy committee) said he doesn't see much objection to the amendment if farm purchases take the overall 10 per cent cut.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, said he will fight the amendment and he predicted it will be beaten.

Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass.) announced shortly after the committee vote that the bill is on the House calendar for debate Monday. It is expected to pass without much opposition.

Senate Awaits Action

Adding to the pressure was a reminder of Senate interest in unification, expressed by Senator Tydings (D-Md.). He announced that the military pay bill passed by the House will stay on ice in the Senate Armed Services committee until the House passes the finances bill.

When the House passes it, House and Senate conferees can get together on a compromise bill containing all essential features of the unification bill originally passed by the Senate. That bill bears Tydings' name.

Wedding

Emig—Eisenhart
Miss Evelyn Lorraine Eisenhart, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis A. Eisenhart, East Berlin, will become the bride of Charles Richard Emig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Emig, also of East Berlin, on Sunday afternoon, July 17, at 1:30 o'clock at Trinity Lutheran church, East Berlin.

The Rev. Paul Gladfelter, Jacob, a former pastor of the East Berlin church, will perform the marriage ceremony. There will be a reception for guests immediately following the church rites.

Miss Eisenhart is a graduate of the East Berlin high school in 1945, and later studied beauty culture and established a business of this kind which she operates in her home town. Mr. Emig, a graduate of the same high school in 1934, furthered his education at a school of embalming and for some years has been associated with his father in the business of Harry Emig and Son, funeral directors, East Berlin. He is a veteran of South Pacific service in World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Emig will leave late Sunday afternoon for a trip to the midwest where they will spend a few weeks.

Upon their return to East Berlin, the couple will reside with Mr. Emig's parents.

LEGIONNAIRES TO MEET

A meeting of the 22nd district, of the American Legion, will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. at the McCartney post, Dry Run, Franklin county, Wm. A. Geiselman, district commander, announced today. Commander Geiselman and Adjutant Paul B. Fox, both of Gettysburg, will attend.

Washington, July 15 (P)—Democratic leaders today looked with flat disapproval on a Republican plan to extend the Monroe Doctrine to western Europe as a substitute for the North Atlantic Pact.

Upon their return to East Berlin, the couple will reside with Mr. Emig's parents.

Halfway Around The World

"Redwing," the Adams County Free library's bookmobile has travelled 13,504 miles, a distance approximately equal to half the world's girth, in delivering books to every school, every town and village in Adams county during the last three years. Carrying 1,000 books per load, "Redwing" was named by county school children who helped pay for the book truck.

The library is conducting a July drive in Gettysburg for a building fund with which to pay for its new home at the old county jail. Five hundred letters to prospective donors here were sent out last week.

On Sunday they will attend the double-header baseball game between the Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox at Cleveland.

The minister made the charges in a long review of the church-state fight in Communist-governed Czechoslovakia. He spoke before the Central Action committee of the National front here.

Cepicka claimed that Beran maintained "treacherous connections with foreign enemies" and that, with Vatican emissaries, the archbishop plotted "treacherous and anti-state riots." The justice minister termed this a terrible indictment.

Earlier another official of the government directly attacked Pope Plus XII, accusing the pontiff of blessing and supporting Fascism.

Cepicka's allegations of treasonable activity by the Catholic leaders of Czechoslovakia were contained in the first half of his speech, as reported by the official Czech press agency.

There was no immediate indication of what course of action the government spokesman now would propose against Primate Beran and the bishops who have stood with Beran in the church-state fight. The Catholic leaders maintain the government's campaign is designed to throttle the church.

The House Armed Services committee nimbly reversed itself on the issue yesterday, and approved a bill to reorganize the armed forces' business-finances affairs. One member said instructions from Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R-Mass.) were partly responsible for the reversal.

Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass.) announced shortly after the committee vote that the bill is on the House calendar for debate Monday. It is expected to pass without much opposition.

STEEL MILLS GRIND TO HALT

Pittsburgh, July 15 (P)—Operations in the nation's largest steel mills ground slowly toward a complete halt today as the hour neared for a midnight strike deadline set by the CIO-United Steelworkers.

All furnaces in the far-flung empire of U. S. Steel were scheduled to be out of production by 6 p.m.

A spokesman for U. S. Steel said full production—in the event there is no strike—will not be possible again for about two weeks. He said that usable metal would not be produced by banked furnaces for at least three or four days.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel, biggest U. S. Steel producing subsidiary also closed its mammoth coke by-products plant at nearby Clairton. A company official said that coke supply in the mills generally is adequate for operations necessary to get the mills back to production.

Hundreds of mill workers in this steel-producing capital had already received lay-off notices, and others were scheduled to receive them tomorrow.

TRUMAN SIGNS HOUSING BILL

Washington, July 15 (P)—President Truman signed the long-range housing bill today and said it must be put into operation quickly.

The President called in more than a score of sponsors of the legislation for the signing ceremony.

Passage of the bill by Congress last week gave Mr. Truman his first major victory in his "fair deal" legislative program.

In a statement, Mr. Truman said the measure "equips the federal government, for the first time, with effective means for aiding cities in the vital task of clearing slums and rebuilding blighted areas."

He said he is submitting to Congress "immediately" a request for additional appropriations necessary to finance the program this year.

K. HEINTZELMAN PITCHES PHILS TO 1-0 VICTORY

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Boston's Billy Southworth couldn't
Ken Heintzelman when he elected his all-star pitchers. Southworth has nothing on the batters. They can't see him either.

The 33-year-old southpaw, who is making a contender of the once-eerie Philadelphia Phillies, is pitching the best ball in the National League. He is tied for most victories with 11. He has lost only three. Manager Eddie Sawyer hates to think where his fourth place will be without him.

Get Third Shutout
Heintzelman further embarrassed Southworth last night when he pitched the Phils to a 1-0 victory over Max Lanier and the Cardinals. It was his third shutout and his second by a 1-0 margin. He blanked the Braves and Chicago Cubs previously.

His 11th victory, which incidentally tied his best previous winning total, resulted when outfielder Del Dennis crashed his 13th home run with one out in the last half of the ninth. The victory advanced the Phils to within one game of the Braves, who were beaten by the Cubs, 3-2.

The defeat dropped the Redbirds game and a half behind the Dodgers, who nosed out the Cincinnati Reds, 6-5, in a 10-inning struggle after tying the score in the ninth with two runs. A single by Mary Zackay and a double by Billy Cox, both off relief pitcher Ewell Blackwell, gave the Dodgers their seventh straight triumph over the Reds at Ebbets field.

Dutch Leonard, the Cubs' hard-hitting knuckleballer, finally won one. At that, he had to bat in the winning run himself with a single in the eighth. The blow scored Frank Gustine and broke a 2-2 tie. Vern Bickford, trying for his 12th victory for the Braves, was charged with his fifth defeat.

Johnny Mize clouted his 14th home run with one on in the first inning to lead the New York Giants to a 4-3 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. All National league games thus ended in one-run margins.

The New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox won their games as the Yankees retained their American league lead of five and a half games over the Indians. Allie Reynolds, who has suddenly found the secret of finishing games, not only went the route for the second straight time, but shut out the St. Louis Browns, 5-0. Joe DiMaggio and Gene Woodling drove in two runs apiece.

9th For Indians
Bob Lemon won his 10th game for the Indians and rookie shortstop Ray Boone drove in three runs with a home run and long fly as the Tribe won its ninth game in the last 10 starts with a 7-1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. The lumping A's dropped their sixth in row.

Joe Dodson pitched the Red Sox to their eighth straight victory as Joe McCarthy's forces turned back the Detroit Tigers, 5-2. Al Zarilla cracked a two-run homer for the victors. The triumph advanced the Sox to within a half game of the third place Mackmen.

Three bases on balls, an error by Eddie Robinson and George Metzger's bases-loaded single gave the Chicago White Sox four runs in the third inning and helped them defeat the Washington Senators, 4-2. Sam Mele batted in both Senators' runs.

All games were played at night.

FRED HAAS IN TOURNEY LEAD

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 15 (AP)—Fred Haas, Jr., a New Orleans family man whose 7-year-old daughter is his biggest rooster, held a one-stroke lead today as the 72-hole Dapper Dan Golf Tournament went into its second 18-hole round.

Haas was just about neglected all day yesterday as he came through with a six-under par 36-30-66 over the hilly 6,850 yard Alameda course. But, with his daughter tagging along, he fashioned an even 36 going out and a great 30 coming home. His iron game was mechanically perfect on the incoming nine.

Sammy Sneed, the National PGA champion from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Herman Barron, White Plains, N. J., and Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago, all tied for second with 67s. Sneed had a 33-34, Barron a 34-33, and Mangrum, a 36-31.

Only two strokes behind the leader were the veteran Felix Serafin, of Scranton, Pa., and Otto Griener, of Baltimore. Both went out in 33 and came home in 32 for their 68s.

Cary Middlecoff, the National Open titleholder and leading money winner on the pro circuit had a bad day. He finished with an even par 2. Vic Chezzi, last year's Dapper Dan winner and one of four players who is seeking the 10th place on the Ryder Cup team, had a 70.

League All-Star Contest On Sunday

The annual game for the benefit of the injured players' fund of the South Penn Baseball league will be staged Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Marsh Creek Heights field between two all-star teams.

One team will be composed of players from teams of the northern tier of the league: Wenksville, Bendersville, Heidersburg, Cashtown, Hunterstown and Granite. The other aggregation will be chosen from players from Granite, Barlow, Bonneaville, New Oxford, Brushtown and Green Springs.

The regular league schedule will be resumed on July 24.

PROXIMITY WINS NEW LAURELS

(By The Associated Press)

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 15 (AP)

Harness racing followers heaped new acclaim today on Proximity, Ralph and Gordon Verhurst's great trotter.

In capturing the grand circuit feature at Saratoga raceway last night, the seven-year-old mare: 1—Won her 11th straight 1949 race.

2—Equalled the track record for the mile of 2:03, set by Arden Homestead's Titan Hanover in 1945.

3—Brought her earnings close to the $125,000 mark, second best in trotting history.

4—Continued her mastery over R. H. Johnston's Rodney, last year's harness horse of the year. She inflicted Rodney's only three defeats since 1947.

Proximity's victory came in the $5,000 Chatham free-for-all trot. Demon Hanover, the leader for three quarters, finished third behind Rodney. Proximity paid $2.50, $2.10 and $2.20. She was driven by Clint Hodgins.

ACES TO MEET ORRTANNA HERE IN LOOP TILT

The Gettysburg Aces will attempt to repeat their 11-9 victory gained over Orrtanna on June 11 when the teams clash here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in an Adams County league game.

New Oxford, tied with Fairfield for third place, will be host to Hanover, the league leaders.

Another outstanding game will be staged at Fairfield where the Conewago VFW will be the visiting team. Conewago is but half a game back of Hanover.

Other games will find Littlestown playing at Bendersville and York Springs at Emmitsburg.

Next Tuesday's games will be as follows: Fairfield at Gettysburg, Orrtanna at New Oxford, Conewago at York Springs, Bendersville at Hanover, and Littlestown at Emmitzburg.

The pace setting Allentown Cardinals widened their margin over Harrisburg to a game and a half by defeating the Sunbury Reds 4-3. In the remaining contest, the cellar-dwelling Hagerstown Owls knocked over the Trenton Giants 8-1.

Yesterday's Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 15 (AP)—The Dapper Dan club a "persnickety" organization that started from a line in Al Abrams' sports column could be about as big a sports promotion outfit as there is in the past ten years. It has turned over $128,670.69—and don't forget the figure is audited to the last cent—to charity. All that money represented profits from various sports events.

The Dapper Dans stage a $16,500 Open tournament, fights, professional and high school football games, even an open-air operetta. And not one of their promotions ever has lost money.

The numerous and enthusiastic D.A.'s are sure of a profit before the event starts.

"We always give the spectators something for their money," Abrams explained.

"We don't have to slug people and make them take tickets; they like to buy them."

Abrams, founder of the outfit wasn't judged dapper enough to become a member until he was elected president of it two years ago. No wonder he says the Dapper Dans are persnickety.

SMOG ON THE DIAMOND

The Lebanon, Pa., North Atlantic league ball club, where incidentally, the park is seven miles away in another town, was playing a tough game the other night and fans weren't pleased with the umpiring between innings. Late in the contest a newspaperman called one of the umps over to the press box.

"Did you read about those Interstate league umpires who walked off the field during a game because they said it was too hot?" the scribe asked conversationally. The ump said no. "Then why?" the scribe inquired biting, "don't you guys do the same thing?" Smog on a clear day.

PUTTING IT BLUNTLY

Sammy Sneed who blew that crucial putt last week was perturbed about the activities of amateur photographers yesterday. The Western Golf Association estimates that over a million people have seen its movie "Honolulu Caddie" and requests for the film have come from clubs in England, South Africa, India, Australia, and Latin American countries.

Local baseball writers say Dino Restelli the sensational Pirate rookie slugger is troubled by the fact that they made him an overnight sensation.

Fruit Farm Sold: Mrs. Arthur J. Roberts has sold her home and fruit farm of 114 acres, located near Arndtsville, to E. B. Romig, of Harrisburg. Possession will be given in December. The sale was made by C. A. Heiges.

Hundreds Flee from Frisco: San Francisco, July 14 (P)—Uncounted hundreds began an exodus from San Francisco Friday as forebodings of violence and famine gripped the city in the face of a general strike which seemingly nothing could stop.

President Roosevelt's Labor Dispatch board worked frantically in last-minute efforts to bring about arbitration of the strike of 27,000 Pacific coast longshoremen and maritime workers, but little progress was discernible.

Violence at the outset was scattered. A mob described by police as hoodlums and Communists raided several restaurants and a theatre in Oakland. They pounced upon Chinese cafes, forcing proprietors to bar the doors.

Strike pickets and sympathizers guarded highways and warned truck drivers against bringing produce into the bay region.

Couple Weds: Charles E. Thomas, Gettysburg R. D., and Miss May K. Osborne, Straban township, were married Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the residence of the Rev. Dr. C. W. Baker. The couple was attended by the bridegroom's parents.

Trew Receives Patent for New Basket Liner: Washington, July 11.—A basket liner, invented by James W. Trew, of Gettysburg, was patented today by the federal government. Trew applied for exclusive rights over the invention May 9, 1932. Two claims have been allowed for two unique features. The patent has been placed at the disposal of Rice, Trew and Rice company, of Biglerville.

Accept Position: James H. McIlhenny has accepted a position as assistant chemist at the C. H. Muselman company, Biglerville. Willis Beidler is the chief chemist at the plant.

Assembly of Twenty Rotary Clubs Planned: N. B. Schnurman, Gettysburg, and Harry Crouse, Littlestown, will represent their respective Rotary clubs at an assembly of 20 clubs at the Francis Scott Key hotel, Frederick, Wednesday, July 18.

On Tour to Coast: Raymond P. Topper, Esq., left this week on a personally conducted tour to the Pacific coast. He expects to be gone three or four weeks.

"Big Bill" Tilden Here: En route from St. Louis to New York city, William T. "Big Bill" Tilden, formerly the country's ranking amateur tennis player, now a professional, stopped in Gettysburg for a few minutes Tuesday morning.

Tilden said he sometime hoped to stage an exhibition match in Gettysburg. When informed that the town was small and that the receipts might not be large "Big Bill" said he takes that risk even in large cities.

Lands Autogyro Here: Guy Miller, manager of the Wings airport, Philadelphia, flying the cabin autogyro owned by Colonel R. L. Montgomery, Philadelphia sportsman, landed at the Gettysburg airport on Tuesday while en route to Pittsburgh.

Today's Talk
THE BEATEN TRACK

Too many of us love the beaten track, too timid to branch out and make a new path to new scenes and new discoveries. It's by a new discovery that we gain new incentive, and are inspired to speculate. The inventor, the pioneer, and the scientist boldly set out to discover new ways, new methods and new formulas. This is what keeps the mind of each active and alert.

So inspired was Edison by his many revelations that he found very little time in which even to sleep, matching it now and then, but returning to his work with renewed enthusiasm and zest. And he kept spreading out. He touched an almost endless number of new ideas, and was the father of inventions that many another adopted as his own. The beaten track had no fascination for him.

Much is written about the lack of opportunities at the present time. They are greater than ever! You just have to hunt them out, for they are hidden. New enterprises are cropping up everywhere, for those with an alert eye and keen brain. Advancement in medicine, and in all branches of the sciences, is really remarkable. Something new is forever being touched off, and to the benefit of millions. This means new opportunities. But all these advances do not come from the beaten track.

Said Lowell: "New occasions teach new duties." So, as new paths are entered, new thoughts, new ways of life, are discovered. And all this means opportunities for discovery and growth. I recently visited the Ford motor plant, and stood in a great room where hundreds of designers and draughtsmen were busy at work for future cars. The public is forever craving the new!

The beaten track is only for cows and laggards. Progress is made only by those who seek out new paths, who like to speculate upon the unknown, and who have imagination and the will to risk and learn. There were no beaten tracks for those who left all to enter the wastes and forests of the Western lands of Canada and the United States. Those pioneers had eyes that saw afar. They saw what millions now enjoy.

There was no beaten track across the Atlantic when Col. Lindbergh decided that he could span that great distance with his "Spirit of St. Louis." It's routine now!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Timeless Words."

POTS AND PANS

An apron thrown about me
My Nellie neatly tied.
For years (let no one doubt me)
The dishes I have dried.
Sometimes we'd toss a penny,
(How swiftly time goes by!)
As good a way as any.
For who to wash or dry.When 'twas my turn to wash them,
Beside the sink I stood,
And round about I'd slosh them.
A way that's not so good.
The knives and forks were easy,
But scorning Nellie's plans,
I wouldn't do the greasy,
Well-blackened pots and pans.I didn't mind the glasses.
The cups I took in stride.
The platters, where amasses
The gravy, waxen-dried,
I scraped the white she waited
Till gone were all the spots,
But bitterly I hated
To do the pans and pots.Fate alters life for many
And makes all wishing vain.
We'll never toss a penny
To wash or dry again.Today the task that tried me
Is one the good Lord bans,
But could she stand beside me
I'd do the pots and pans.

CRAZED SLAYER LEAVES ROOST ON WATERTOWER

Lima, Ohio, July 15 (AP)—Raymond Jutila, the demented slayer, was tired and sunburned after his 29 hours atop the state hospital's 130-foot watertower.

He also was happy—and remorseful.

"Doc, I'm awful sorry for all the trouble I've caused you," he told Dr. R. E. Bushong, hospital superintendent.

The 35-year-old insane killer came down yesterday from his perch on top of the watertower at Lima State Hospital for the criminal insane. He was happy after being assured "released convicts" would not harm his family.

The family had not been threatened, Dr. Bushong said; Jutila's fear was just a mental delusion.

The Warren, Ohio, man had scampered up the tower Wednesday morning. He refused to come down until protection against "some released convicts" was furnished his family.

Gets Special Message

To assure the "protection," Jutila demanded that Police Chief William Johnson of Warren, send him a telegram. The message, he insisted, had to be delivered by a uniformed Western Union messenger.

When the telegram was delivered, Jutila kept his word. He climbed down the ladder.

The message from Chief Johnson read:

"I have seen your father, mother, sister and wife. They are all o.k. They want you to come down from the tower immediately."

When he reached the ground, Jutila posed silently while news photographers snapped pictures. Then he walked to the hospital.

As a reward, the insane killer was to be permitted today to visit with his mother, Mrs. John Jutila, and a sister, Mrs. Marie Dawson, both of Warren.

GOTHAM UNION PREPARING FOR LONG SHUTDOWN

New York, July 15 (AP)—More than a million New Yorkers hunted alternate transportation today after a strike immobilized buses on 30 routes.

Riders—who could do so handily—switched to subways, which were put on stepped-up schedules to handle the extra crush. Others hopped taxicabs, if they could find empty ones. Some walked.

The stoppage, touched off yesterday by the lay-off of four New York City Omnibus Corp. mechanics, spread early today to the Fifth Avenue Coach Co., affecting a total of 3,000 workers.

A city-sponsored peace meeting last night failed to bring any agreement between the companies and the CIO Transport Workers union. The session was adjourned "subject to recall."

City Councilman Michael J. Quill, TWU president, said the union is "digging in for a long strike." Now that it is on, he added, the union will insist on "immediately sitting down" to work out contract demands.

Negotiations on these demands have been deadlocked since June 30, when the old contract expired and was extended for 30 days.

The two struck companies, which are jointly owned, normally carry about 1,125,000 passengers a day.

The big omnibus corp. operates some 800 buses over 21 Manhattan routes. The Fifth Avenue Coach Co.'s 280 buses, including the famed double-deckers, run on nine lines in Manhattan and Queens.

"Anything Can Happen"

When reporters asked Quill if there was a possibility the strike might spread to still other bus systems in the city, he said:

"The lid is off. Anything can happen now. This may last a long time."

Edmund C. Collins, vice president of the struck firms, denounced the walkout as a "flagrant repudiation" of an agreement under which disputes were to be referred to an impartial chairman in the transit industry.

The agreement, he said, pledged both sides not to resort to strikes, lockouts or "similar tactics."

Tanker, Freighter Collide On Ocean

Philadelphia, July 15 (AP)—A damaged oil tanker and freighter are headed for this port under their own power today after colliding in the Atlantic ocean off the Delaware breakwater.

The two vessels involved in the crash in a dense fog yesterday about 110 miles southeast of Philadelphia were identified as the tanker Sancinet, owned by the Socony-Vacuum Oil company, and the freighter Friesland, of Dutch registry.

The tanker is bringing five million gallons of oil from the Persian Gulf while the freighter is loaded with palm oil from the Netherlands East Indies.

The Cunard-White Star line agents for the freighter, said the captain of the Friesland radioed his ship would need repairs.

GUARD FIRING ITS BIG GUNS

Indiana Gap, Pa., July 15 (AP)

—The biggest guns of the Pennsylvania National Guard boomed out over the huge military reservation here today.

The 200th field artillery of the tenth corps moved into the firing range with its 155mm tractor-drawn Howitzer and sent volleys ringing through the air at far-distant targets. The Bellefonte outfit concludes its firing program Monday.

Some 7,000 members of the Pennsylvania and Virginia National Guards are winding up their first week of a two-week encampment here preceding the 28th infantry division, the bulk of the PNG.

Yesterday artillery of the tenth corps from central Pennsylvania, banged away at their targets in the first day's shooting using new army technique that accounted for some fine precision firing.

The cannoneers of the 176th armored field artillery battalion, Lewistown, and the 96th, Wilkes-Barre, let go with their 105 Howitzers and sent volleys without depending on detailed range computations formerly required by forward observers.

Five directional centers located well behind the lines are directing the firing.

Claims Reds Not Ready For War Now

Philadelphia, July 15 (AP)

—Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former U. S. ambassador to Russia, says the Soviet Union is hardly likely to consider herself ready for war with the West for at least 10 years.

He made the observation last night in a talk to 350 students and faculty at the University of Pennsylvania.

The soldier-diplomat, now in command of the First Army, reiterated his previous observation that the outlook for the immediate future was generally for a period of "friction, disputes, and tension" between the two countries.

Gen. Smith said that the area comprising Turkey, Iran and the Middle East is now the "Achilles' heel" of Russian military planning, and that pressure may be expected to subdue these areas in the near future.

Chapter 4
Kenneth looked at her admiringly as if discovering virtue piled on perfection in her. "I wish," he said wistfully, "that Mom could meet you. She's . . . she's swell, but she'd never think of putting flowers on a table or anything like that. Maybe you could show her things like that."

Priscilla was touched. "I'd love to," he said. "Are you and your mother very close?"

"Yeah," said Kenneth, "guess you'd say we are Dora and Daniel. They never meant so much to Mom as I did somehow. Guess it's just my fate charm." He grinned and that devilish look that had first attracted Priscilla was in his eyes.

"We'd better pick some flowers," said Priscilla hastily. "You go over here and I'll pick these." When she had picked a sizable bouquet from the profusion of coral honeysuckle, Kenneth came up with an armful of delicate red and yellow lilies. Priscilla burst out laughing when she saw him.

Priscilla could not control herself for a moment, but she finally got her breath. "You're so big," she cried, gasping. "You're such a huge man and you look . . . so . . . funny . . . carrying those delicate flowers." She sat down on the ground and indulged in another paroxysm of laughter.

"Okay," he said sheepishly. "You take them. They're becoming to you. I guess I do look funny holding them, but I only picked them for you."

He sat there looking awkward, like a great boy, his big-knuckled hands spread over his knees. For all that he was much older than she, Priscilla felt for a moment like his mother. "I'm sorry I hurt you," she said and then went on without measuring the effect of her words first. "I like you just the way you are . . . I mean," she hesitated, "I mean the only thing I don't like about you is your bad grammar. I hope you don't mind my saying that."

Kenneth seemed happy to hear her words. The teasing light came back into his eyes, that devil again. He put his arms around her, tenderly this time, as if she were made of precious, fragile stuff.

"I think Mom would like you," he said softly. "I want you to marry me." Priscilla moved out of his arms and stood up.

"You mean you have to marry a girl your mother would like? Can't you choose for yourself?"

"Well, sure," he said. "We've had to live with Mom, that is until I get to makin' more money, and she'd have to like you, wouldn't she? I mean I always thought the girl I'd marry would get along with Mom. That's important, ain't it?"

Priscilla shrugged her shoulders. "Perhaps it is," she said. "I don't know. But, anyway, I'm not thinking about marriage now. I have other friends, you know," she said. "Bob and Raymond want to take me out sometimes, too."

Kenneth dropped his hands to his sides. He looked as if he had struck him. "Who are Bob and Raymond?" he asked furiously.

"Oh," she said airily, "they're just a couple of the fellows I know."

She had overplayed her hand as she soon found out. Kenneth put his hands back on her shoulder and this time there was nothing gentle about his gesture. His powerful fingers gripped her. His fingers continued to bite into the softness of her shoulders. Suddenly he began to shake her . . . hard . . . fast. She stared like a frightened fawn into the eyes of her captor until those eyes began to fade from sight. They slipped up and down and finally they went away altogether . . .

Priscilla groaned. The afternoon sunlight hurt her eyes. Gradually she became conscious enough to hear the sound of muffled sobs—great, masculine, frightening sobs. She turned her head. It was Kenneth there, kneeling beside her, crying. Why should Kenneth be crying? Her mind worked slowly as if paralyzed and then the whole thing came back to her—the shaking, the terrifying fury in his face . . . She tried to sit up. She wanted to run.

"Priscilla," murmured Kenneth, trying to get control of himself. "I've hurt you, Priscilla." He began to babble hysterically. He hadn't meant to hurt her. He hadn't meant to touch her. It was just that she had made him so jealous. He loved her so much.

Priscilla sat up finally with an effort, and Kenneth supported her with his arm.

"Priscilla, please forgive me!" Kenneth pleaded. He began to kiss her hair and her shoulders. "I'll never do such a thing again. I promise you."

Priscilla looked at him doubtfully. She was no longer terrified. Perhaps, as he said, she had brought it on herself and yet . . . such strength. It frightened one. "All right," she finally managed to say. "Let's forget it. How about getting me some coffee out of the thermos? I think I'd feel better."

He bent quickly for the coffee, obviously grateful for the chance to make it up to her in some small measure for what he had done, and she was soon sipping coffee while Kenneth watched her anxiously. She asked him whether he didn't want some, but he shook his head mutely, miserably.

"Could we," he said finally, "go on said, "but I thought you'd be out with some young man this evening."

"Raymond isn't coming until half past eight. We have time."

As her father went after his hat, Priscilla heard Lorraine say something to James about "private conversation that we shouldn't hear, I suppose." Priscilla paid no attention and, in a moment, she and her father were walking down the street together.

"Well, what is it, daughter?" her father asked, drawing her arm through his. "I know there's something on your mind."

"The something is Kenneth."

Her father interrupted her. "Before we continue the discussion about Kenneth," he said, in the funny, pedantic way he sometimes had—he taught history at the high school—"tell me how you feel about Dennis now."

"Why . . . I don't know," she stammered, and then pride had its way with her. "I can do without Dennis," she said in as offhand a manner as she could manage. They walked in silence for awhile.

"Let's go in the drug store and have some ice cream," her father suggested. As they entered the brightly lighted place and sat down in a booth in the back of the store, Priscilla smiled at her father. He was such a darling! When she was a small girl and something or somebody had hurt her, the panacea had been to go to the drug store and have some ice cream.

Mr. Hayden chatted of many things, seemingly irrelevant, as they ate their ice cream. He mentioned the fact that, while she had been a great disappointment to him as a student of history, she was undeniably excellent in her English classes. He wanted her to do something with that ability. She must go to business school and learn stenography.

"So many young girls, who don't know a complete sentence from a complete idiot, go to business school," he told her humorously. "You'll be in demand as a secretary."

"Will I?" Priscilla had not thought she would ever be "in demand" as an office worker. The idea intrigued her. "Will I, really, Dad?"

"Definitely," he assured her. "You'll be the rara avis."

It was not until they had almost reached their home that the question of Kenneth came up again. It was agreed between them that Priscilla would enter business school in the fall. She would take from September until the following June to complete her course.

Chapter 6

Raymond came a few minutes later and as she left for the movies with him, she heard sounds of argument coming from the back of the house. Her father was telling her mother what had been decided. Priscilla was to enter business school in the fall. She was not to think of marriage until she had graduated and held her first job for awhile. But at the same time, Kenneth was not to be forbidden to come to the house. Priscilla was to be free . . .

Restless, restless, restless sighed the June breezes that night. Restless means no rest. No rest, no rest for Dennis. No rest for Priscilla . . . At nine o'clock a stream of sunlight and the aching of her shoulder muscles brought her back to the world of reality.

When she opened her eyes, she saw Drusie standing beside the bed. "Mother says you'd better get up," Drusie informed her. "Mother says it's late."

Priscilla squinted at the little pink enamel clock on her dressing table. "It's only nine o'clock," she said. "Anyway, I was out late last night."

"I know, that's why Mother's mad," said Drusie. "Besides, you're wanted on the telephone."

It was Kenneth's voice Priscilla heard when she picked up the telephone in the downstairs hallway.

"Why, hello, Kenneth, how are you?"

"How are you?" Kenneth's tone was one of contrition. "That's more to the point!"

"I'm fine," lied Priscilla. Her shoulders were painfully stiff. "I never felt better in my life." There was need to tell him otherwise.

Kenneth's voice was bright with relief. "I'm so glad," he said. "Then . . . then how about a date tonight?"

"Sorry," said Priscilla. "You should have asked me sooner." That was true. She had promised Raymond a date tonight.

"Well, how about tomorrow night?"

"I have a date tomorrow night, too. That's the honest truth, Kenneth."

There was silence for a moment and then Kenneth spoke apologetically, his short spell of temper over. "Gee, Priscilla, when are you going to be my girl?"

"Not," said Priscilla, "until you get over being jealous."

"Well," said Kenneth, "could I have a date the night after the night after tonight?"

"Yes," said Priscilla, matching his elaborateness with her own. "Yes, I think that could be arranged. I also think it could be a lot of fun."

She hung up the receiver, chuckling to herself.

"Priscilla Hayden!" her mother called from the kitchen. "Just a minute! Did I hear you making a date for tonight with that stupid Kent person?"

"No, Mother," said Priscilla. "I have a date with Raymond."

"Well, that's better," said Mrs. Hayden.

Priscilla went up upstairs. There was no point in telling about a couple of nights hence, when she would have a date with Kenneth Kent. Her mother would evidently be annoyed, had been annoyed by yesterday's picnic date. She wondered what her father thought. She must find out. That evening after dinner, she cornered her father and playfully took his newspaper away from him.

"Let's take a walk. Beautiful night."

From the light that leaped immediately into his tired eyes, Priscilla knew how much any small attention meant to her father. She knew also that she had been neglecting him. "Why, I'd like to," he said, "but I thought you'd be out with some young man this evening."

"Raymond isn't coming until half past eight. We have time."

As her father went after his hat, Priscilla heard Lorraine say something to James about "private conversation that we shouldn't hear, I suppose." Priscilla paid no attention and, in a moment, she and her father were walking down the street together.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

closing is not the one I speak of, but another that was written by Edith Post Bates (one of his people). He added my name because he sent it to me for correction of the meter and rhythm, but it was Miss Bates' idea.

"I suggest that you print it in The Gettysburg Times. It was written, of course, before his tragic death, but was a cry while he still lived for him to return to his Valley people."

Miss Bates' ballad follows:
Buchanan Valley is lonely now
For its hermit, Will o' the Hills.
The raindrops fall from the drenching bough.

Where mourn the whip-poor-wills.
The city stole our Will away,
But left a memory here,
Of a priest, who in this vale
held sway,
That grows from year to year.

Oh, Will o' the Hills has gone away!
Shall he never come again
With his book and dogs and his ringing voice
To call his erring men:

To round them up in the house of God.
To make them kneel and pray?
Oh, Will o' the Hills, we are calling you;
We want you night and day.

The moon looks out with a mournful eye
On your church all dark and lone;
On your grave in the grasses there hard by Marked with a cast-off stone.

But you are not dead, oh Will o' the Hills,
Though you've gone so far away;
In the mire and toil of the city's roar

You've been for many a day.
With book and dogs you roamed these hills
And into the cabins went.

Oh, many a sinner you shrove of guilt—

You were an angel sent!

Oh, many a kindly word you spoke
And many a dying eye

You closed upon this heedless world;

You soothed the orphan's cry.

The city stole our Will o' the Hills

But still you memory's green—
Our priest, who dwelt in these lonely hills
Whose like was never seen!

There stands the "Squaw" on her pedestal,
As when you bade goodbye, She wraps herself in her Indian robe.

And a tear slips down from her eye.

Or was it a drop from a weeping tree
That fell on her poor, stone cheek,

That caught a gleam from the moon's sad beam
And made her look so meek?

Your lamp burned long in the midnight vale,
No one awake to see,

While you wrote for us a wondrous tale:
God's love and chivalry.

And over the hills with book and dogs
You went when the sun was high.

Oh, that was the day when our hearts were gay,
And the clouds went skimming by!

You'll come, you said, when life is done,
And here with us you'll stay,

Where the grasses wave and the squirrels run,
Until the judgment day.

We want you now, oh, Will o' the Hills;

Surely you cannot fail...
Return to us and our needs fulfill—

We wait in Buchanan Vale.

MORE OF LIFE'S GOOD THINGS

Americans own more radios, more television sets, more washing machines, irons, refrigerators — than the people of any other nation. Why? Because our American enterprise system is based on the productive teamwork of workers and management, business and banks. In some countries these comforts can't be had by many people at any price. In America, bank loans help many people to get things they want. If you wish to borrow to buy some of the better things of life, see us about a low-cost loan.

There's no sense putting clean oil in a dirty engine. Motor oil's got a big job to do—lubricating the moving parts, providing piston ring seal, and cooling the engine. But it can't do a proper job if it's fouled up with sludge, grit and other harmful accumulations.

That's why I use CISCO SOLVENT. It does a fast-acting job of flushing out power-robbing accumulations from truck and car engines, transmissions and differentials. I've found that with a CISCO SOLVENT cleaned engine, and fresh oil added, my car really steps out!

Why not try a CISCO SOLVENT treatment... then put in clean motor oil, and notice the difference in your car's performance. You'll enjoy smoother performance—get more miles per gallon—and cut repair bills, too. Your Cities Service Farm Representative has Cisco Solvent. Ask him about it.

Mystery Veils Secret Session With Truman At Blair House; 16 Big Wigs Present

EISENHOWER, AEC LEADERS AMONG GROUP

Washington, July 15 (P)—A White House shield of secrecy today threw a tight cover over a super-mysterious conference which brought President Truman together with top military, atomic, diplomatic and congressional leaders.

For two hours and 33 minutes these men—the list was impressive—were together behind closed doors last night in historic Blair House, the President's temporary home.

There was no announcement whatever of what went on. However, the identity of the participants pointed strongly toward some development in the atomic weapons field on an international level.

The 16 men who were closeted with Mr. Truman were singularly close-mouthed as they left. What little they did reply to reporters' questions could be summed up:

"If anything is going to be said, the President will say it."

Mr. Truman wasn't talking. There was no sign that he would later.

Much Speculation

The conference, staged against the dual backdrops of (A) the sharp Senate debate on the Atlantic Pact and arms-for-Europe and (B) a congressional hearing into charges of mismanagement of the atomic energy program, threw open the doors to wide areas of speculation.

This was true because of the secrecy that surrounded everything, even though it could be that nothing sensational was involved.

Here's the list of those at the conference with the President.

Vice President Barkley, Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Johnson, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has been presiding as chairman of the joint military chiefs of staff; House Speaker Rayburn of Texas; Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee; Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services committee; Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.) of the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy committee.

Also Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Republican Foreign Policy spokesman and member of both the Foreign Relations and Joint Atomic committees; Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), a member of both groups and author of the "incredible mismanagement" charges against the Atomic Energy Commission; Rep. Durham (D-N.C.) vice chairman of the joint committee, and Rep. Cole (R-N.Y.) ranking GOP House member on the committee.

AEC Men Present

Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the AEC; Joseph Volpe, Jr., AEC general counsel, and two unidentified men.

Both the areas of speculation—and the mystery—were enhanced by an accumulating number of facts, none of which supplied any definitive answers. Among them:

1. That the conference itself was never announced officially, but only acknowledged by Mr. Truman at his press conference after the news already had seeped out.

2. That the conference was held in the evening at Blair House, instead of during the day at the White House.

3. That the White House imposed a "no pictures" ban and the White House press office declared there was no statement to be forthcoming.

4. That the usual jovial Vice President Barkley was grim-faced, and Senator Tydings was cryptic to an unusual extent.

5. That, as it was disclosed eventually, there was a "gentlemen's agreement" that no one but the President would say anything.

Tydings, who left the meeting early because of a cold, was asked if Russia and the atomic bomb was involved. He said he "wouldn't think so." Later he told reporters they wouldn't want a news "beat" because "you wouldn't print it if you had it for the good of the country."

ARCHBISHOP OF PRAGUE AWAITS NEXT RED MOVE

Prague, Czechoslovakia, July 15 (P)—Gagged and literally under lock and key, defiant Archbishop Josef Beran sat tight in his palace today waiting for the Communist government to make the next move against him and the Roman Catholic Church.

The nation wondered: Will the Communists jail him, and if so, when and on what charges?

All sorts of charges have been made against Beran and his bishops by government officials and the controlled press—charges such as incitement to insurrection and espionage for unfriendly foreign powers."

Would the Communists dare now to arrest the nation's primate when Slovak Catholics have demonstrated they will rise with primitive weapons in defense of village priests?

Expect Red Reprisal

Catholic and diplomatic quarters appeared convinced that the government would not deviate from its aim of crushing and shackling the church. The question was when and by what measures it would now proceed.

Informed diplomatic sources took this view of the situation:

1.—The government by sheer power won the first round of the state-church fight by isolating Beran and his bishops, placing them in semi-

River Expedition At Sidney Today

Unadilla, N.Y., July 15 (P)—A seven-man party retracing a route once used by Iroquois Indians hopes to reach Sidney, about six miles west of here, for lunch today on their 440-mile canoe trip down the Susquehanna river.

Ralph Gray and Walter M. Edwards, leaders of the expedition, said a leak in one of their three canoes delayed the journey yesterday. The party made only eight miles.

The men started Tuesday, pushing off from Council Rock on Otsego lake near Cooperstown. They expect to complete the trip in about six weeks.

Marking Time

3.—There seems now to be a period of "marking time" in which the Communists are producing daily a series of charges in their press against the bishops. These range from claim that the bishops collaborated with the Nazis to accusations that they are now the vassals of the "western imperialists" telling their side of the story to the Voice of America.

4.—This period of trying to build up a case was prompted by strong resistance encountered especially in volatile and strongly-Catholic Slovakia against repression of the church.

Why a Man Buys a Cadillac

If you were to ask the owner of a 1949 Cadillac why he bought his car, he would doubtless find it difficult to put into words the way he feels about "the Standard of the World".

He would probably tell you that he bought his car because it's a Cadillac.

Of course if you wanted to ask him specific questions, he could give you much specific information.

Did he buy his Cadillac for performance?

Why, surely he bought it for performance—for the 1949 Cadillac is powered by a great new V-8 engine, so smooth and effortless that only a demonstration can tell the story of its superiority.

Did he buy it for comfort?

Yes—for a ride so quiet and restful and easy that every mile is a joy and a relaxation.

Did he buy it for safety?

He certainly did! He has such confidence in the steady steering, the quick acceleration and the powerful hydraulic brakes that his peace of mind is worth the purchase price!

Did he buy it for long life and durability?

And that is the reason why you should buy one—for Cadillac's superiority lies not in any one thing but in the whole of its substance. Why not come in for a ride that's a revelation?

TOMATO, CORN YIELDS ABOVE AVERAGE IN PA.

Harrisburg, July 15 (P) — More fresh tomatoes and sweet corn but fewer snap beans, cabbage and cucumbers are in sight for Pennsylvania housewives this summer, the State Agriculture department said today.

Federal-State surveys reported that tomato production this year, estimated at 567,000 bushels, will exceed both 1948 and the ten-year, 1938-1947 average. Fresh market tomatoes last year numbered 525,000 bushels with the ten-year average at 500,000.

An estimated total of 57,500,000 ears of sweet corn will be available for table use from Pennsylvania farms this summer, the survey revealed. This compares with 52,020,000 ears in 1948.

Strawberries Slumped

On the other side, snap beans for fresh market this year are estimated at 429,000 bushels compared with 576,000 in 1948 and the average of 540,000 bushels.

The late summer cabbage crop estimate runs 43,500 tons against 60,800 tons in 1948 and the average of 43,300 tons. Cucumber production is set at 132,000 bushels while 150,000 bushels were produced last year.

Strawberry production slumped somewhat in the Keystone state this year, the survey also disclosed. The output of 133,000 crates of 24 quarts each compares with 152,000 crates last year and the average of 191,000.

See Big Apple Crop

Another survey on fruit crops showed more apples, pears and cherries and less peaches.

The 1949 apple crop is now estimated at 8,250,000 bushels compared to the short production of 4,520,000 last year and the average of 7,598,000 bushels.

A bumper crop of cherries will yield about 10,800 tons, nearly 3,000 tons above 1948 while pears may reach 330,000 bushels this year against 255,000 bushels in 1948.

Peaches will be about 2,138,000 bushels, down some 50,000 bushels from last year.

About 250 tons of wire can be drawn through a tungsten carbide die before it must be replaced.

Auto Hits Crowd; Woman Is Killed

Philadelphia, July 15 (AP)—An automobile careened out of control and smashed into a group of pedestrians at 5th and South streets yesterday, killing a 37-year old mother on her way home from a neighborhood grocery store. Three other persons were injured.

The victim was Mrs. Anna Rabchinski, mother of five children.

One of the injured persons shoved his wife from the path of the on rushing vehicle, which mounted the sidewalk, smashed a newsstand and ripped a fire hydrant before coming to a halt.

Police said the driver of the car, Joseph Snofsky, 28, told them his machine failed mechanically as he began to make a left-hand turn into 5th street from South. He was not injured.

The lone entry from New York state will be the Consolidated Edison American Legion corps of New York city, who will be presenting their drill routine in this state for the first time when they appear on the Hershey stadium drill field Saturday evening.

The first corps is scheduled to take the drill field at 7:30 p.m. and each corps in turn will be given 10 minutes to complete its drill routine and concert numbers. Judging the event will be a complement of 10 judges appointed by the All-American Judges' association, men who are considered to be experts in the judging field.

Prize money totaling $2,675 will be awarded to the competing corps with the Eastern States champions receiving $500 and the eighth and ninth place corps winning $200 each. Suitably engraved trophies will be awarded to each corps participating and the winner will be presented the Julius traveling trophy, sponsored by the Julius Music House, of York.

Tickets for the event will be on sale at the stadium the night of the event.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Richard Knipple, son, Edward, and daughter Linda, East King street, are spending the weekend at their cabin in Cumberland county, near Pine Grove Furnace.

WORK STARTED BY SPORTSMEN ON BUILDING

About 100 members of the Littlestown Fish and Game association attended the July meeting held Wednesday evening on their farm in Germany township. Prior to the meeting many of the members enjoyed horse-shoes, while others viewed the grounds. Work on their building has started. The foundation has been dug out and the masonry work was started Thursday.

Dr. Joseph R. Riden, president, was in charge of the meeting with G. Richard Knipple presenting the secretary's report. Theron W. Spangler presented the treasurer's report, which dealt with results of the recent carnival. No estimate of profits was possible until all bills are submitted.

It was reported that the wheat on the farm has been harvested, with more than 21 bushels to an acre. It was sold and the association realized a profit of $128. The raising and harvesting of the wheat was in charge of William V. Sneeringer and Walter F. Crouse.

Marker Is Placed
C. J. Krichten, Sr.'s, committee presented a door prize of a fishing rod, which was received by Richard Hamm, of Midway, who is deputy game protector of Adams county. A marker has been erected on the Frederick pike, adjacent to the property of Paul E. King, which points the direction to the farm. This sign was made by Howard Trostle, and painted by Kenneth Shoemaker. The stone and cement for the base were donated by William V. Sneeringer and Ernest Baumgardner assisted in its erection. If purchased, this sign would have cost $50. The entire sign was a donation to the association.

Bernard Dillman, who is the local club's representative to the Adams County Sportsmen's association, reported that the county organization will start clay bird shoots in October, at the clubs at Littlestown, Gettysburg, New Oxford and Bennerdale. Each club will furnish five or more shooters and the clubs in the association will compete with each other.

Captains Named
Karl Bankert and Robert L. Crouse were appointed captains for the Littlestown club.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by James U. Bowers, Luke Jacobs and Samuel Keagy. President Riden appointed Lawrence Crouse, chairman; Ernest R. Sente and William Wherley as a program committee for the August meeting, the date and place of meeting to be announced later.

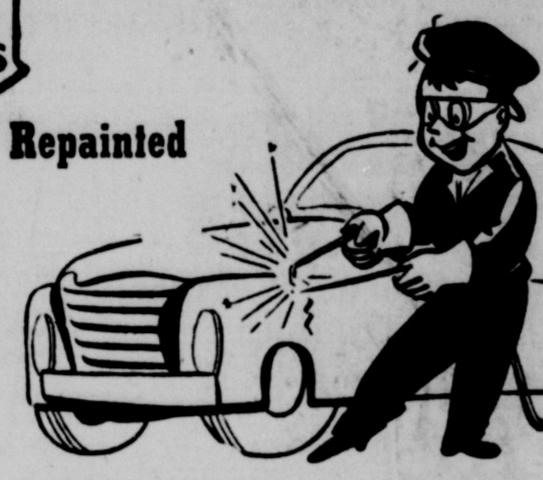

The Littlestown Softball contests were interrupted this week on account of the rain. Weather permitting, the Windsor Shoe team will compete with Redeemer's team tonight.
